Suchita & Maneesh

WEDDING: July 4, 2009 PHOTOGRAPHER: Kelly Brown Weddings SANGEET/GARBA: Hilton, Minneapolis
CEREMONY & RECEPTION: The Depot, Minneapolis HONEYMOON: Maya Riviera, Mexico, and South Africa

Suchita Desai and Maneesh Gulati's love has traveled the world—often with obstacles in its path. The couple met in Washington, D.C., at a Bar Association conference, then each went home to their respective Madison and Boston. Subsequent studies, work and travels took one or both to South Africa, Europe, Greece and India. Maneesh referred to their separations as “the greatest gift and the biggest test”—a gift that they had found each other, and a test of their patience and commitment during their times apart. Not surprisingly, their wedding celebration, a mix of traditional Indian with modern twists, reflected both their international journey and their heritage. Their traditional Sangeet/Garba (an evening of music, dance, and celebration), wedding ceremony and reception were each designated distinctive vibrant colors. Symbols of Ganesh (a deity who removes obstacles, and is invoked for new beginnings) were prominent throughout; seems he has already provided a great start for these happy newlyweds.
